

Astrology and the Meaning of Life

Why did advanced ancient cultures work so hard to understand time and cycles? Biology is the science of life. Economics is the science of living. Astrology reveals the inner purpose of our life at the level of individuality, which equates to the building block of a truly enlightened society and civilization.

Most people live according to a basic state which has been categorized into 4 basic states:

1. Nomad
2. Settler
3. Refugee
4. Prisoner

Yet, there is a higher state and it is accessed when life is regarded as a soul journey and which implies processes of evolutionary growth and mastery. In light of this higher vision, the purpose of life is to become a responsible co-creator. In turn, this transforms life from a process of survival to an adventurous journey of personal growth, creative achievement, emotional maturity and spiritual mastery.

Interpreting the symbols of Astrology implies and even requires a deeper appreciation that all the symbols involved are actually archetypes, or core features of the very blueprint of life. With this understanding, the perspective and approach is oriented to deeper layers of interpretation than mere prediction tends to imply.

In this regard, Astrology goes deep to embrace and incorporate the deeper understandings and symbolic indications of the evolution of the soul. In addition to destiny and karma too, Astrology can even offer accurate insights into one's soul level and stage in a larger, evolutionary process that requires many lifetimes and incarnations to fulfill.

However, there is one main problem. Due to the current state and stage of the human condition, many people, and large portions of modern society as a whole does not think this way. Often, Astrology is superficially marginalized by unconscious minds prone to conformity, or it is considered too esoteric.

Yet, you can contribute to transforming society and elevating it from its current posture of materialism, survival, confusion and nihilism simply by committing yourself to be authentically awake and aware as a living soul living a wholesome, authentic life. The rewards are many and principle among them is a deep sense of peace in the knowing that life is indeed on purpose and that the opportunity to live more consciously and in alignment with your own sense of purpose and meaning is a choice away.
