

The Most Important Conjunctions of 2025

In 2025 the winner of the strongest conjunction is shared.

Although both Neptune and Saturn will both enter Aries in Spring 2025, which is indeed very significant, they will not form an exact conjunction until February 20, 2026, which will also be the beginning of many multiple conjunctions (stelliums) in Aries especially in spring 2026.

So, the first winner is the Sun conjunct Pluto on January 21, 2025 because it is the first conjunction of the Sun to Pluto in Aquarius since its entry in late March 2023! This conjunction will serve to effectively activate the next significant trigger leading to the Age of Aquarius, of which there are many spanning the decades beginning in the early 20th century. Yet, it is significant in part because it can be understood as a countdown as the Sun makes subsequent conjunctions to Pluto every year that Pluto is in Aquarius, which is 20 year. Yet, it is the first several that will prove especially important.

The second winner is an exact, by-degree, 5-planet stellium that occurs on March 28, 2025, including the Moon, Venus Retrograde and Neptune, all at 'critical' (Anaretic) 29 Pisces, along with Saturn at 27 Pisces, and Mercury at 0 Aries, and Mercury is also retrograde! Triple conjunctions are quite rare and this one can be deemed quadruple, even though Mercury is in Aries because it is less than 1 degree away, especially when the Moon enters Aries as well and forms a conjunction to it.

While this exciting line-up can be understood to begin various cycles, these are less important than the event itself, which is rare and exciting and invariably indicative of important themes. Due to the fact that Mercury and Venus are effectively conjunct and both retrograde! Also, the entire dynamic will continue until April 7 revealing numerous consecutive exact conjunctions. This fact has to be seen to be fully understood and appreciated, so follow this LINK to see it.

Neither of these aspects are especially powerful, and pivotal aspects, since these are associated with conjunctions of the far planets, from Jupiter outward. However, both are special and carry their own significance.

The Most Important Conjunction(s) of 2024

So, in 2024 it was the Jupiter/Uranus conjunction in Taurus which activated an approximate 14-year cycle, which occurred on April 20, 2024 with the Sun also in Taurus, having entered just hours prior, and ends on September 8, 2037.. I am mentioning this conjunction from 2024 because it lasts about 14 years!

Not surprisingly, it largely indicates a disintegration process, due to inner connections to Saturn in Pisces, yet also one of rebuilding replacing the old model or system with (a) better one(s). Ironically, there are indications that while the process could well prove challenging, it will bring about a more abundant standard for living for more people. It marks an evolutionary leveling of the playing field' so to speak. Given the fact that there are multi-billionaires, this does not seem likely. Yet, it is still very early in the cycle... The key turning points will occur at the times when the aspects are hardest including the following dates:

- September 10, 2027 = first lower or waxing square.
- October 30, 2031 = opposition.
- January 16, 20235 = second upper or waning square.

Michael O'Connor
Life Coach Astrologer

Guiding Your Future Probabilities & Possibilities...

www.sunstarastrology.com sunstarastrology@gmail.com

Call Toll Free: 1.800.836.0648